

Sexual Assault Awareness news.....

The last week of April was a busy month for the Jr. High SAM (Student Awareness Movement) Club members and the Community Sexual Assault Program. The SAM Club along with CSAP participated in a Sexual Assault Awareness week. The SAM Club members recognize that this is a problem in their community and wanted to speak out to their fellow community members. They thought that if they could raise awareness of the problem that it would help stop or prevent sexual assault in this community. The SAM Club picked April since it was Sexual Assault Awareness Month and began planning their project over 3 months ago. This past week they have been busy with activities at the Junior High. Monday, the 25th was fact day. They posted facts about Sexual Assault around the school and followed that with an assembly to bring awareness to their fellow students. Tuesday, the 26th was Teal Day and Wednesday, the 27th was Competition day, where the students answered questions for prizes. Thursday was Denim Day, the students wore denim, in response to an Italian judge over ruling a rape conviction because "it is common knowledge that jeans cannot even be partly removed without the effective help of the person wearing them." On Friday, April 29th, to conclude the week the students had an assembly and a Community Walk to further spread awareness.

About Us

The Teenline has been part of the Alcohol Drug 24 Hour Help Line since 1989 and serves youth and friends and families of youth in Washington State.

We are a crisis intervention and referral service that can offer some help and support for those who want to talk about either their personal drug/alcohol use or someone else's use.

We can be contacted through e-mail, (just click on the 'E-mail Us' link in the middle of this page) or you can call us at the number above. Our crisis lines are staffed by teen volunteers M-Th from 3-7. If you call at any other time, an adult volunteer will always be available.
